CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

Taking a firm stand against tobacco use among our youth

ANGELA MANCINI

Towards the end of the last academic year, the English Montreal School Board, the Youth Coalition Against Smoking (a movement coordinated by the Quebec Council on Tobacco and Health) and the Public Health Director of the CIUSSS du Centre-Est-de-l'Île-de-Montréal co-presented an important youth forum on the subject of tobacco use. It took place at St. Pius X Career Centre and included the presence of Grade 10 students from 10 of our high schools.

We plan to hold a number of forums such as this on different health issues, but we felt strongly that this first one should deal with smoking/vaping and the tobacco industry's constant efforts to win youth over as new clients. This all falls into the backdrop of massive cuts in healthcare in Quebec, which will end funding for many programs directly geared towards youth in the area of prevention and promotion. It also coincided with the revision of Bill 112, which governs tobacco use in Quebec, and with the expiration of the Canada Health and Services Act, which governs the parameters and provides the funding for our health services. So it is a time of much movement!

Bold step towards energy efficiency

The English Montreal School Board is in the midst of its second major initiative aimed at bolstering energy efficiency in school buildings.

This $24.6 million project with energy efficiency experts Énergère is initially focusing on 17 specific schools and centers. This new project with Énergère includes, among other measures, equipment renewal and modernization using athermal technology, replacing 25,300 lights and the addition of automated controls to enhance the comfort of staff and students.

Once the project is completed, the 17 buildings will achieve a 53 percent reduction in energy consumption and 74 percent or 4,070 tons of CO₂ reduction in greenhouse gas emissions per year, equivalent to removing more than 1,270 cars from the road.

See pages 9 to 11 for much more on this project.

Shown above are students from John F. Kennedy High School in St. Michel who study energy savings in Science class, along with EMSB Vice Chair Sylvia Lo Bianco, Chairman Angela Mancini, Quebec Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and the Fight against Climate Change, David Heurtel, Commissioner Agostino Cannavino and Principal Joseph Vitantonio.

Six elementary schools participated in a contest tied to the energy saving project, designing leaves or petals on a large piece of coroplast poster board shaped like a tree with ideas or actions regarding what they can do to protect the environment. Dante Elementary School in St. Léonard was chosen as the winner. Pictured, left to right, are: teacher Franca Mambro, Giovanni Mainella, Adamo Capone, Myreko Montanaro, Gabriella Gagliano, Liane Grise, Matteo Pisano and Principal Daniela Lattanzio.

Students are directly affected by these issues, yet are too young to vote. The health forum served as a platform for brainstorming, for expressing ideas and for figuring out ways to communicate those ideas for the betterment of their society.

Students were provided with an opportunity to interact with their peers through small group activities as well as plenary sessions designed to give voice to their concerns regarding tobacco use, the industry and public policy. Animators were present to help students find creative ways to address the issues both on-site, and afterwards in their own schools. Students were also encouraged to come up with a collective message to be delivered to Lucie Charlebois, Minister for Rehabilitation, Youth Protection and Public Health. Following the forum, student representatives, along with the Spiritual Community Animator for their school, were asked to facilitate a post-forum lunch-hour activity featuring a "Q&A" card challenge.

EMSB appoints new Director General

Ann Marie Matheson has been appointed the new Director General of the English Montreal School Board, succeeding Robert Stocker who stepped down last month and now serves as a senior advisor.

Ms. Matheson's connection to the EMSB dates back to the beginning of her 23 year career in education. As a member of the Student Services Department of the former Montreal Catholic School Board (MCSC), she was directly involved with programs meant to reduce absenteeism and increase student success rates in all high schools, including St. Raphael, St Pius X and Paul VI schools. For three years, from 2011 to

Ann Marie Matheson

2014, Ms. Matheson was an EMSB commissioner for Ahuntsic.

Additionally, Ms. Matheson served as the International

Baccalaureate Program Coordinator at Marymount Academy International in its founding years and was on loan-of-service to the Ministry of Education and had responsibility for the École Montréalaise Program in English schools – 19 of which were in the EMSB.

Most recently Ms. Matheson has worked for the Lester B. Pearson School Board as a principal at LaSalle Community Comprehensive High School. The parent of two children who have attended EMSB schools, she served on the Region 3 Parents Committee and Central Parents Committee in 2005.

EBS AT ETIQUETTE BOOK LAUNCH

Some students and staff from Elizabeth Ballantyne Elementary School in Montreal West participated in the launch of Nancy Kosik's new book Guiding You in the Right Direction: Basic Day-to-Day Etiquette. It took place at Paragraph Bookstore downtown. This Oops! Etiquette Series, published in association with Les Editions LaLucia, is written for children, tweens and teens ages 9 to 14. This series of books is designed to provide tools that will help them develop self-awareness, awareness of others, and responsibility regarding the outcome of their interactions with people of all ages in diverse, realistic, social situations. EBS teacher Suzanne Englebreton, with the support of Principal Otis Delaney, brought Ms. Kosik into her Grade 5 class for a 12-week period to focus on etiquette. Students Aswinii Senathirajah and

CITOYENNETÉ NUMÉRIQUE

Les Services pédagogiques de la CSENM ont lancé une nouvelle initiative de citoyenneté numérique. Au cours de deux journées pédagogiques consécutives, les enseignant(e)s du primaire et du secondaire et les directions d'école ont eu droit à des présentations pertinentes de la part du conférencier Dr Alec Couros. À la première journée, 700 enseignant(e)s du secondaire étaient présents, suivis le second jour par 900 enseignant(e)s du primaire. Le Dr Couros est professeur de technologie éducative et de médias de la Faculté de l'Éducation de l'Université de Regina. Il œuvre avec des enseignants en formation et en service actif pour les aider à développer les habiletés nécessaires pour devenir et continuer à être des éducateurs innovateurs et connectés. Il a animé mondialement des centaines de présentations sur l'intégration de la technologie éducative, la citoyenneté numérique, l'apprentissage connecté et l'identité numérique. Au cours de sa présentation, le Dr Couros a interagit avec l'auditoire et envoyé des tweets en direct. Vous pourrez revoir tous les tweets des journées pédagogiques à #emsdbc. « La citoyenneté digitale est un concept qui continue à évoluer » a déclaré la directrice adjointe des Services pédagogiques, Athina Galanogeorgos. « Ceci n'est que le début. Nous avons eu la chance que le Dr Couros partage son expertise avec nous tous. Notre rôle d'éducateurs continue à évoluer et l'une de nos plus grandes responsabilités sera de préparer les élèves à naviguer à travers toute cette nouvelle technologie et médias sociaux de façon sécuritaire, intelligente et appropriée. »

HISTORY OF THE SOUTH WEST

Canadiens General Manager Marc Bergevin with students and faculty during his visit to James Lyng High School.

James Lyng High School in St. Henri has launched an exciting cross curricular (history, ethics, English and French) project focusing on the history of the South West sector of Montreal. The latter encompasses St Henri, Little Burgundy, Pointe St Charles, Ville Émard. As an Urban Arts School, a focus undertaken in partnership with McGill University, the staff and students at James Lyng have posted a large scale wheatepaste mural on the exterior wall of the school featuring prominent figures from the South West. This includes jazz legend Oliver Jones, Montreal Canadiens General Manager Marc Bergevin, actor and playwright Vittorio Rossi, and many more.

OVERDRIVE

The EMSB Pedagogical Services Department has launched a new service called OverDrive, offering free eBooks to all students and staff at high schools. This digital collection is available 24/7 and all one needs to get started is an internet connection and an EMSB email address. A wide variety of popular fiction and non-fiction materials for high school students is available, as well as content in French, Chinese and Spanish. Digital books are compatible with computers, smart phones, tablets and eReaders. For more information log on to: <http://emsb.lib.overdrive.com>, or <http://www.emsb.qc.ca/virtuallibrary>.

Annual EMSB Volunteer Appreciation Evening honours those for “Making a Difference”

by STUART NULMAN

Over 500 school volunteers and administrators, as well as senior management and commissioners, attended the 14th annual English Montreal School Board (EMSB) Volunteer Appreciation Evening last April 14 at the Plaza Volare of the Crowne Plaza Hotel in Ville St. Laurent. The event was held in conjunction with National Volunteer Week under the theme “Making A Difference.”

Time and space did not allow the EMSB to honour all of its nearly 1,500 volunteers in person. Therefore, with those individuals who have volunteered for more than five years were in attendance. Volunteers with 15 or more years of service received a special EMSB Somerset candy jar as a special thank you gift. Several thousand copies of a commemorative program book were distributed to each school. La Capitale Financial Services was once again the title sponsor for this event.

The emcees for the evening were Global Evening News anchor Jamie Orchard and EMSB Communications and Marketing Specialist Michael Cohen.

“Making a difference is more than just a theme or a phrase that maybe taken for granted. However, when you see the multitude of our volunteers perform the duties they are called upon to do in a dedicated, rather selfless manner, then you witness vivid examples of what making a difference is all about,” said EMSB Chairman Angela Mancini. She also credited the continuous hard work and dedication of the volunteers as a contributing factor towards the EMSB’s amazing 87.8% success rate.

This year’s Volunteer of Distinction was Mona Vaudry from St. Gabriel Elementary School in Pointe St. Charles. She began volunteering at St. Gabriel back in 1980 and 35 years later, still volunteers at the school every day from 6:50 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., and does everything from decorating the school for special events, to preparing snacks for the students, to being involved with the school’s Lunch Program and the Home and School Committee.

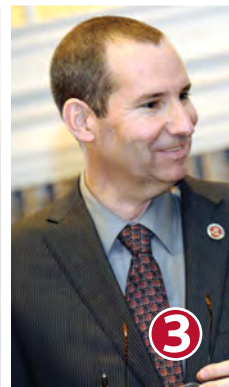

“Mona is a major contributor to the life and survival of St. Gabriel School. No matter what we ask of Mona, she is there for us,” said principal Jim Daskalakis. “To everyone at St. Gabriel, Mona Vaudry is like the Mona Lisa ... priceless!”

Guests at this year’s Volunteer Appreciation Evening were treated to two special performances by a current EMSB student and an EMSB administrator. Angelike Falbo, a Secondary V student at Laurier Macdonald High School in St. Leonard, who appeared as a contestant on La Voix—TVA’s version of The Voice – brought down the house with her extraordinary singing talent, which proved why she finished among the top four on the show, which had a viewership of 2.5 million people. Angelike also attended John Paul I, Gerald McShane and Frederick Banting. Her kindergarten teacher was East Hill Principal Myriane Lusignan, and the two had an emotional reunion at Volunteer Night. Joe Cacchione, a vice-principal at Galileo Adult Centre in Montreal North, entertained the guests with a brief stand-up comedy set in which he talked about what it’s like to be an Italian in Montreal, and even gave non-Italian speakers a quick lesson on how to speak Italian.

The 2015 EMSB Volunteer Appreciation Evening was proud to have the following companies as its major sponsors: title sponsor La Capitale Financial Services (www.lacapitale.com), which offers a wide range of products and services -- such as savings, investments and funds, individual life and health insurance, and group insurance -- that are designed to simplify financial choices for members working in the public and parapublic sectors in over 900 public and parapublic institutions across the province; Steve’s Music Store (www.stevesmusic.com), which has evolved into a world renowned music store and a major force in the Canadian music industry since 1965. Steve’s caters to all kinds of musical needs: acoustic, electric and bass guitarists, drummers and percussionists, keyboard players, pianists, brass and wind players, composers, public address systems, rentals and sheet music; Énergère (www.energere.com) is a leading Quebec-based energy service company that provides innovative solutions to improve the energy efficiency of buildings and reduce their operating and maintenance expenses, and are currently partnered with the EMSB in an am-

Sponsorship Opportunities for 2016

Each year the EMSB is fortunate enough to receive many offers for sponsorship at Volunteer Appreciation Evening. The moment you sign on with us, we begin promoting your business in our newsletters, press releases and on our website. On the evening of the event you get an advertisement in our program book and more importantly a kiosk that will be visited by hundreds of parents who play important roles in the management of their respective schools. ■

EMSB takes bold step towards energy efficiency

The English Montreal School Board is in the midst of its second major initiative aimed at bolstering energy efficiency in school buildings. This $24.6 million project with energy efficiency experts Énergère is initially focusing on 17 specific schools and centers.

This new project with Énergère includes, among other measures, equipment renewal and modernization using aerothermal technology, replacing 25,300 lights and the addition of automated controls to enhance the comfort of staff and students. Once the project is completed, the 17 buildings will achieve a 53 percent reduction in energy consumption and 74 percent or 4,070 tons of CO2 reduction in greenhouse gas emissions per year, equivalent to removing more than 1,270 cars from the road.

Important Savings To Be Realized

All lighting fixtures will be converted from fluorescent to the latest in LED technology, which will save energy, last longer, and simplify maintenance while maintaining or enhancing lighting levels. This measure alone will account for $9 million of the budget. Savings are projected to amount to more than $1.17 million per year once all measures are in place. The initial investment is expected to be covered in 14 years, taking into account $9.9 million in grants from Hydro-Québec, Gaz Métro, Bureau de l'efficacité et de l'innovation énergétiques (BEIÉ) and the Ministry of Education, Leisure and Sports (MELS).

The EMSB received proposals from three firms for this project, of which Énergère's was deemed to be the best. The company presented the EMSB Council of Commissioners with a detailed study which confirmed the results projected by their original proposal.

"The process to choose a firm was rigorous and we followed it very precisely," said EMSB Chairman Angela Mancini. "The proposal we retained met and surpassed the goals we set and when completed and paid, will provide the EMSB with important savings that will allow us to increase and improve services to students across the Board."

Énergère guarantees the project on three levels: costs, incentives, and energy savings. It is a win-win, turnkey project that fits well with the objectives of the EMSB Green Plan and will benefit the community at large.

Added Daniel Hogue, EMSB Director of Material Resources: "The project provides us with leading-edge energy technology, more control points that will ensure greater comfort for students and staff while offering the EMSB greater control over maintenance and associated operational costs."

Quebec Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and the Fight against Climate Change David Heurtel, the MNA for the riding of Viau, has applauded the initiative.

"The Quebec government will invest $3 billion to fight against climate change through 2020," he remarked. "We want the word to get out that things need to change, and show that people can work together in the fight against climate change, and for a cleaner environment not only for today, but for tomorrow as well."

Work began last February and will be completed by this December.

Carbon Neutral Certified

"The project will put the EMSB in line or ahead of the targets for energy efficiency set by the government and we will be leaders in terms of environmental awareness and concrete actions that show our level of commitment," stated Ms. Mancini. "When the project is fully implemented at least 11 of the 17 schools will qualify to be certified carbon-neutral. That is something of which our entire Board can be rightly proud."

The 17 schools and centres are: Rosemount High School and Technology Centre and Pierre Elliott Trudeau Elementary School in Rosemount; Gerald McShane Elementary School in Montreal

North; Dante Elementary School in St. Léonard; Royal West Academy in Montreal West; Leonardo Da Vinci Academy, Michelangelo International and East Hill Elementary Schools in Rivière des Prairies; St. Gabriel Elementary School in Pointe St.-Charles; John F. Kennedy High School and Adult Education Centre in St.-Michel; High School of Montreal Adult Education Centre in the Plateau; Marymount Academy International in NDG; Laurier Macdonald High School and Vocational Centre and John Paul I Junior High School in St. Léonard; St. Pius X Career Centre in Ahuntsic; Shadd Business and Health Centre in NDG; Roslyn Elementary School in Westmount.

Jour de la Terre Québec

Énergère and the EMSB also announced a partnership with Jour de la Terre Québec, which conducted workshops at schools during the week of Earth Day last April. They made presentations on energy efficiency and offer solutions to help protect the environment.

"It should be pointed out that 2015 has been proclaimed as the International Year of Light and Light-based Technologies," commented Jean-Philippe Hardy, assistant director of engineering for Énergère. "Our publicity campaign is a good way to get this message out."

Nathalie Cloutier, a science teacher at John F. Kennedy High School, explained that her Grade 10 students already study energy conservation as part of the curriculum she puts forward.

The six elementary schools that participated were Pierre Elliott Trudeau, St. Gabriel, Gerald McShane, Dante, East Hill and Michelangelo.

First Phase Followup

Énergère's project follows up the first phase which occurred in 2009 when another company outfitted six schools with technology that cut their energy bills by 47 percent. This amounted to an annual reduction of 2,480 tons of greenhouse gases and greatly reduced the EMSB's carbon footprint, equivalent to removing 765 cars from the road. The company optimized the heating network and ventilation, installed more efficient hot water boilers, efficient lighting and heat recovery equipment which included geothermal heating and heat pump systems. This investment of $8.4 million had an 11 year payback plan.

Concours d'art dans six écoles primaires de la Commission scolaire English-Montréal de sensibilisation commencée en avril en partenariat avec le Jour de la Terre. Les écoles Pierre Elliot Trudeau, Gerald McShane, Michelangelo, East Hill, St. Gabriel et Dante ont démontré un réel engouement pour le concours avec la participation de 1 055 élèves !

Chaque école participante a reçu un panneau d'affichage sur lequel était dessiné un arbre dénudé. Entre le 22 avril et le 8 mai 2015, les élèves devaient créer une feuille d'arbre ou une pétale de fleur et écrire leurs idées ou gestes qu'ils posent au quotidien pour protéger l'environnement. En habillant l'arbre de feuilles et de messages, les œuvres de chacun ont construit une véritable œuvre d'art collective, « l'Arbre des idées vertes ».

Trois juges ont visité les six établissements participants et ont été impressionnés par la beauté des dessins ainsi que par les messages des élèves, soucieux de la santé de notre planète. Pour chaque école, le jury a récompensé les six meilleures idées évaluées selon l'originalité, la beauté du dessin et le respect du thème. Voici quelques exemples : In the future I will build a robot that will recycle, Christopher Ramroop; Quand mon linge ne fait plus, je le donne à mon frère, Andy Zimmerman; J'éteins les lumières avant de partir à l'école, Teo Hemingway-Lalonde; Je viens à l'école avec ma bicyclette, Alejandro Sandoval; Utilise l'énergie solaire, Massimo Indelicato; I will save water from the rain and use it to water the plants, Marika Alessia Neri. À l'issue des visites, les membres du jury ont choisi l'arbre gagnant qui prendra place au centre administratif de la commission scolaire.

Félicitations à l'école primaire Dante pour la création du plus bel arbre! Nos juges ont été surpris par la finesse artistique, le souci du détail et la réflexion menée autour de l'arbre. Sous la direction artistique du professeur d'art plastique, Mlle Franca Mambro, cet arbre a un impact visuel immédiat, un véritable régal pour les yeux et les sens. Rehaussé par son fond bleu ciel, cet arbre représente les quatre saisons, des branches d'arbre enneigées aux feuilles orangées automnales jusqu'au vert vibrant de l'été. En utilisant des textures et des techniques différentes, le réalisme de chaque feuille est impressionnant. Des éléments créatifs ont été ajoutés comprenant un nichoir, un nid d'oiseau, un seau à sirop d'érable, des oiseaux, des papillons, des escargots, un ver de terre et une enseigne de l'école Dante. Félicitations aux élèves de l'école Dante et l'Association d'Art qui ont proposé une très belle réflexion, qui ont passé du temps et transmis leur amour de l'environnement !

Six elementary schools produce outstanding 'tree' posters

By Wendy Singer

Six elementary schools participated in a contest sponsored by the English Montreal School Board and Montreal-based energy efficiency solutions company Énergère to help promote and raise awareness of energy efficiency and protecting the planet. This contest coincided with the recent announcement of an ambitious $24.6 million project, in which 17 EMSB schools and centres were chosen to help bolster energy efficiency by modernizing and renewing their equipment, so that they could significantly reduce energy consumption and greenhouse gas emissions.

Each participating school received a drawing of a tree on an eight-foot by eight-foot piece of coroplast poster board. Each participating student then designed a leaf or petal from a piece of paper, wrote their own idea or action on it regarding what they can do to protect the environment, and pasted it on the tree. Together, these messages created a unique-looking landscape.

The six elementary schools that participated in this contest, and are also part of the energy efficiency project, were Pierre Elliott Trudeau School in Rosemount; St. Gabriel School in Pointe St. Charles; Gerald McShane School in Montreal North; Dante School in St. Leonard; and East Hill School and Michelangelo International in Rivière des Prairies.

Énergère Communications and Marketing Coordinator Laëtitia Jouanlau and blogger Zoe Bennett joined me as judges. We were mandated to choose winning leaves in each school. The criteria for judging included the leaf or petal's originality, beauty, and respect for the theme of energy efficiency and protecting the planet. Prizes included a soccer ball, passes to Parc Safari, The Biodome, The Science Centre, and Bateau Mouche, and a gift card to Sports Experts.

Judges were impressed by the thought that students put into their energy saving ideas and the design of their leaves. They clearly saw that students understand the importance of conserving energy and taking care of our planet, and are prepared to take a proactive stance. Ideas were as specific as turning off the water when brushing teeth, and as creative as building a robot in the future that will recycle. All in all, the message was clear: Recycle, Reuse, Reduce.

FIRST PLACE: Dante Elementary School

Although all schools created award-winning trees, Dante Elementary School's "treescape" was chosen to be the overall winner, to be displayed at the EMSB head office. Judges were dazzled by the artistic finesse, attention to detail, and thought that went into growing Dante's tree. Under the creative guidance of Art Teacher Franca Mambro, this tree has an immediate visual impact, and is a veritable feast for the eyes and senses. Its impact continues as one takes the time to examine all that grows within this work of art. Seeing Dante's tree for the first time is a veritable feast for the eyes.

Gerald McShane Elementary School

Under the direction of Art Teacher Hélène Diguier, 220 Gerald McShane students from all cycles created a most decorative tree. Judges were struck by how the pink and green colours of the leaves mingled so beautifully together, and how the sweet hearts that Kindergarten students shared their energy saving messages on, which are placed on the grass level, bring charm and vibrancy to the tree.

East Hill Elementary School

East Hill's four Kindergarten classes drew beautiful drawings that shared their thoughts about saving energy and protecting our planet. Out of the 77 leaves and petals, judges chose Samuele Ragusa drawing about closing the faucet when brushing his teeth, Danika Zaffino's lovely and original bird, Siena Tangredi's girl protecting a tree. All students were commended for their compassion for the earth and energy conservation.

Michelangelo International School

Michelangelo International presented a tree so full of life it virtually jumps out to greet you in every sense. Ida de Laurentiis, International Baccalaureate Coordinator, and Elizabeth Pellicone, Spiritual Community Animator, developed a treescape plan which saw 368 students from all grades create leaves and petals using different materials, and replicate leaves from a variety of Canadian trees. The forethought put into the tree, along with the creativity of the students, resulted magnificently artistic tree.

Pierre Elliott Trudeau Elementary School

Judges were impressed when visiting PET's tree, which 220 students collaborated in creating. Guided by Science Teacher Mona Sevigny, each cycle worked creatively with a different type of leaf, all of which fit together beautifully. The vibrant colours and carefully etched and detailed drawings made each leaf come alive in a celebration of nature.

St. Gabriel Elementary School

All of St. Gabriel's 170 students participated in creating a delightful tree that pops in every way. Using a variety of colours and shapes, it was clear from their efforts and messages that they took pride in their tree. Situated in the Oasis Garden, which is in the middle of a thoroughfare of St. Gabriel School, students walked by with their classes while the judges read their messages. They were very excited to share which leaves belonged to them; their passion for the environment was evident. Their tree, titled Universal, demonstrated clear messages about the community and nature that resonated deeply with students, teachers and judges.
